

Training and Professional Development

Professional Boundaries

Includes

Accountability, Responsibility and Confidentiality

To discuss and explore the essential requirements of professional boundaries, to both improve the safety and service delivery to clients and to also enhance the quality of professional relationships (both internal and external to your own organisation)

Course Objectives

- To understand the purpose and function of professional boundaries
- To consider your own “organisational culture” and policies and procedures relating to boundaries and the therapeutic working
- To gain a clear understanding of professional accountability and responsibility, team working, regulatory requirements, including codes of conduct and professional presentations
- To discuss how to manage boundary issues and implement good practice

Course Notes

- Managers are encouraged to contact our trainers in confidence, in advance if they wish for any particular concerns to be raised and addressed through support and training
- This course can be delivered inhouse or via zoom
- We recommend relevant policies to sent to the trainer in advance of the session to ensure the training is mapped to specific requirements
